Handwritten text in Odia script, appearing to be a detailed report or ledger entry. The text is written in a cursive style and covers the majority of the page. It includes various numbers, dates, and names, likely related to land or revenue records. The text is oriented vertically on the page.

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom of the page.

1. The first part of the manuscript is a list of names and titles, written in a cursive hand. The names are arranged in a column, with some names appearing to be in a different script or language than others. The list includes names such as "John", "Mary", "Peter", and "Paul", among others. The handwriting is somewhat difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and the age of the document.

2. The second part of the manuscript is a series of short, handwritten notes or entries. These notes are written in a similar cursive hand and appear to be organized into a list or a series of paragraphs. The content of these notes is also difficult to decipher, but they seem to be related to the names and titles listed in the first part.

3. The third part of the manuscript is a single, larger entry or note. This entry is written in a more formal, upright cursive hand and appears to be a summary or a conclusion of the information presented in the previous parts. It contains several lines of text, which are also difficult to decipher.

4. The fourth part of the manuscript is a final, short note or signature. This note is written in a cursive hand and appears to be a personal or official statement. It is located at the bottom of the page and is relatively short compared to the other parts of the manuscript.
