

The image shows an interior view of a building under construction. The walls are made of grey concrete with visible vertical and horizontal reinforcement patterns. The floor is a light-colored, unfinished concrete surface. A large, rectangular section of the floor is missing, revealing a lower level. On the ceiling, several red-painted pipes run horizontally. In the background, there are door frames and windows, some of which are partially covered. A small concrete pillar with some debris on top is visible on the right side. The overall scene is that of a raw, unoccupied space.

6th floor A type flat south part